Miller addressed those present outlining as added sources of taxation, assessing of farm machinery other than on the land, automobile and merchandising sold in the community. He also read a letter he had received in regard to the Empress, Edmonton. He was replied to by Mr. D. MacKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, who took the stand that such form of taxation was involved and was apt to lead the town into legal difficulties and expressed himself as being out of sympathy with such measures. Two nominations were placed before the electors, being Mr. N. D. Storey and Mr. G. M. Miller. Mr. Storey who was the retiring trustee, was re-elected to office by a vote of 103 to 27 votes for Mr. Miller.

A number of citizens are still on the sick list with the flu cold which seems to be going the rounds.

Reduced Freight Rate On Alberta Coal Is Proposed

The Ship-by-Rail association of Winnipeg, has revealed proposals which it has brought to the attention of the Dominion government designed to give employment to thousands of railway workers in all parts of Canada and coal miners in Alberta.

Lowering of the freight rate on Alberta coal to Ontario from $9.75 to $5 a ton, which the association will request federal authorities to consider, would open a market in the east for 1,000,000 tons of Alberta coal before the end of the present season, the appeal to the government will set out.

The freight rate reduction proposal, as explained by H. W. Thayer, an official of the Ship-by-Rail association, suggests that the Dominion and the railways share the cost, the government by placing a subsidy of $1.00 cents on every ton of Alberta coal shipped to Ontario, and the railways by foregoing 87 cents a ton of the same amount.

"In a sense, the railways would lose $875,000 by moving 1,000,000 tons of coal," said the spokesman. "But the railroads would gain $1.00 cents on every ton of coal moved." (continued on back page)

Rev. L. J. Tatham Moves to Armstrong, B.C.

The many friends of the Rev. L. J. Tatham (who for many years was in charge of the Mission of Empress and Empress) will be interested to know that he has resigned his charge of the South Thompson River Mission, with his quarters at North Kamloops, B.C., and is now in charge of Armstrong, B.C., in the Kootenay Diocese.

Owing to his age and not too good health, Mr. Tatham found the South Thompson River Mission, which is very extensive, too much for him. His new parish is much smaller and I am sure that all his friends in this part of the country will agree that he has well-earned a parish where there is not so much travelling to be done, and that they will wish him every happiness and success in his new parish.—Com.

Why The World Is Sick

Reviewing all that the world has passed through in the years 1914 to 1931, considering the deplorable state of affairs existing in the world today, and at the beginning of a new year, looking into the immediate future, one would expect to find, of all races, nationalities, languages and creeds, who possess an atom of intelligence and a modicum of common sense to solemnly pose again.

During the frightful years of human anguish and suffering of the world people were sustained, even uplifted, by the hope of oft-expressed declaration, that it was a war to end all war; that, when the war and aggression was ended, a new era of peace and good will would follow, the commencement of an era of happiness, progress and prosperity unparalleled in the history of mankind. Buoyed up with these hopes, inspired by this bright vision, people labored and sacrificed and suffered confident that their children and children's children through generations to come would reap the benefit.

But the time has come. The nations of the world were not purified by the fire of war; the selfishness and greed of man were not consumed. The huge debts which the war imposed on each nation are crushing the people, but instead of a willingness to mutually and amicably adjust these burdens, or, as there should be, a keen anxiety to do so, with the strong helping the weak, the nations with war-like ferocity seem bent on making the "otherworld" pay to the last farthing. Like Shylock of old they are exacting usury, caring not that thereby all are headed toward the abyss of destruction.

And individuals, like nations, display the same selfishness, and even greater greed. For the losses they sustained during the war, they seem determined to recoup themselves. Full and exorbitant payment they are demanding for the allegedly patriotic sacrifices they made during the war period, and, in seeking such high payment, to them means ruin to others and they short-sightedly forget that with the ruin of these others must inevitably fall upon themselves.

And so, nearly a decade and a half after the joyful announcement of the armistice and the coming of the long hoped for peace, there is much suffering throughout the world as during the war years, possibly less in some countries, but more in others. In seeking to get the maximum of natural resources provided by a benign Providence, exists the needs and desire of man are as great as ever; the means are at hand to utilize the one to meet the requirements of the other. But wretched, selfish man, but selfishly thinks only of self, and demands that all others shall help him while he holds back the aid he might extend.

And so, in order to build economic barriers against all other nations, each is at war with all others in an attempt to out-manoeuvre the other, to make progress while all others decline. And so all suffer, not one is making progress, all are on the decline. Again, what is true of nations, is true of individuals. Economic pressure makes demands for itself alone regardless of the effect on other individuals. And so it is that if these others suffer, it too, must suffer, if they perish, it also, must die.

The world war to end all war failed in its object. War rages today between the nations as never before. It is a world war, more embracing in fact than the colossal struggle of 1914-1918. It is being fought by different nations, but the same forces are at work. It is being fought by the same forces, steadily, even rapidly increasing, because of taxation; it is destroying trade and commerce; it is making men, women and children naked, and cold and hungry. The Great War did provide employment for all; the present economic world war has thrown millions out of employment, and the number steadily increases. It is undermining the health and the morals of communities throughout the world.

The picture is a dark, a gloomy one. It is, however, futile to delude ourselves. It is idle to cry peace, peace, when there is no peace. The only salvation for the world is a return to sanity. The world is just what the people of the world make it. If you insist on fighting each other, whether in a physical or economic sense, why fight? But in seeking and attacking, they are fighting themselves cannot build up and defend the world must turn from its present ways before it can recover from its sickness. It is not a shortage of gold, nor over-production, nor even present ineffectiveness that is the trouble. It is the people and their prevailing outlook on life, their individual and narrow nationalistic selfishness that is the root cause of the world's sickness and depression.

Unlikely Automobile

Authorities investigating supposed frauds in connection with Massachusetts' compulsory automobile liability insurance laws located this "unlikely" automobile as part of the problem. During two years this machine had been involved in 12 accidents in which 30 persons claimed to have been injured.

Receive Breyer Orders

Trial shipments of British Columbia tomatoes from Kamloops to Hong Kong, made with the co-operation of the provincial authorities, have received the most favorable reports for the product. It is announced by Hon. William Watson, Minister of Agriculture, that the initial shipment sold readily and at satisfactory prices.

To reduce costs many agriculturalists in Trent are returning to the use of mules and oxen in plowing instead of tractors.

Idea Is Not New

Psychologist Believes Murder Preventible By Detecting Criminal Type Early

Murders may be prevented in the near future by the recognition and treatment of the types likely to commit murder.

This is the belief of Miss Alice Raven, a leading London psychologist, who has made an exhaustive study of the most famous murder cases of present years.

"In each case of murder I have investigated," she told a newspaper representative, "I have found a definite psychological similarity in the murderers."

"Murderers are almost invariably impervious with a sense of hostility towards the world, probably due to an inferiority complex, and they have frequently no power of self-expression.

"Their creative faculties are botched within them and this condition leads to a desire for violence."

"More research is needed on this point, but I am inclined to think that the murderer is a man who has a measure of cruelty in childhood to offend."

"My studies of murder cases and criminal mentality show that murder is only committed under certain defined conditions. I am convinced that educated psychiatrists will ultimately be able to recognize the type, even in childhood, likely to commit major crimes, and the social services will take them in hand."

Canadian Ports Cheaper

Canadian Ports Cheaper Than American Ports, Say Report Of American Mules From Quebec

The possibility that Canadian ports will be used in preference to American ports as a shipping centre for cattle and horse shipments to Europe was forecast at Quebec by William H. Clegg, president of the Eastern States cattle exporter, who was surveying the hauling of twenty-eight sample head of American mules consigned to the Italian Government for army purposes, chiefly in connection with warfare.

The animals were sent across on the freighter "Hawker," which vessel also carried a capacity cargo of 22,000 bushels of grain for Hamtramck.

When asked why he had chosen Quebec as a port of entry, Mr. Clegg said he found that even with the longer rail haul to a Canadian port transportation costs were reduced considerably, resulting from a saving of 10 cents per ton-mile.

The exporter, who came to Quebec in charge of the shipment, expressed the opinion that the movement of these animals through Canadian ports would be far more economical than through American ports.

The exporter, who came to Quebec in charge of the shipment, expressed the opinion that the movement of these animals through Canadian ports would be far more economical than through American ports.

From the masts of the vessel, Mr. Clegg observed the Douglas Queen Yacht Club and a tattered American flag. He had found the boat, he said, in a yard in the village of John Etherington, of Shelburne, Nova Scotia, was 32 feet long, 9 feet wide, 5 feet 6 inches high, a beam of 9 feet 6 inches, and a draft of 5 feet 6 inches, a jib-headed ketch with rather stumpy masts. He had added a square sail of 320 square feet and a 16-foot mast. The "Stern" had been fitted with a 6-8 horsepower Kermath engine so that in smooth water he had been able to make six knots. The boat's tonnage was 11.6 tons gross, 10.2 tons net.

Newest Excuse For Passing Traffic Light

Ajahona Negro Said He Thought It Was Christmas Decoration

Two long-eared farm mules driven by an aged negro pulled a rattling wagon past a red traffic light in Montreal, April 10.

Traffic became paralyzed. Motorists shouted; horns blared in swelling beams.

"Hey, you," roared policeman W. J. Collier, trying bravely to untangle the mules. "Don't you see that red light?"

"Yes, sir, boss," I said it long 'fore I got here," the old negro replied with a disarming grin. "I been watchin' as green as I driv' up the street. Ain't you tellin' what my city folks gwine do next for Christmas decorations?"

So saying, the aged one clucked to his mules and was on his way, still grinning.

Mr. Jones— "I know your first husband—a fine man—he died too soon."

Mrs. Clark— "That's what my present husband says."

Ends Long Journey

Young Man Went Round World In Small Boat

William Albert Robinson, the young man from Lowell, Mass., who in 1923 set out from New York in a small boat and traveled around the world, has returned home.

He had been away for 18 months, and after three days and five nights of sailing, brought his journey to an end.

Robinson said he had visited more than 400 ports; had sailed more than 30,000 miles; once had money to buy a boat and the steamer he had captured in the Red Sea by Arabian pirates; had seen volcanoes and waterfalls; had seen whales and frightened birds and albatross; had listened to the drums of the Samoans; had seen Java and China; had visited the Orient; had sailed the durance; had heard many strange tales, and had made many friends.

During the nearly three and a half years of his voyage he had never been shipwrecked. In the Atlantic, the ship had run into sea so high that "the Swash" had not all stood on end; in the immense Pacific he had been becalmed; he had been held captive by pirates; had been held captive by the Japanese; had salved the Bay of Bengal when the sea was as smooth as a sheet of beaten silver.

During his return trip he had a narrow escape from a shark. On the return voyage he had been held captive by pirates; had been held captive by the Japanese; had salved the Bay of Bengal when the sea was as smooth as a sheet of beaten silver.

Without An Audience

Why People Get Any Enjoyment Out Of Gossip

All the vices on earth the one vice that seems to be immune to understanding is the vice of gossip. In our society we can find some explanation; for gossip there is no explanation except depravity or insanity. How people can find enjoyment in making fun of others is beyond the comprehension of the medical experts. The students of the medical experts have found that the viciousness of malicious gossip has caused more havoc in the world than any other one viciousness.

Discoveries Confirm Report Geological Mapping Of Manitoba Area Indicated Gold Deposits

The discoveries of gold made recently in the Island Lake area of northern Manitoba would appear to confirm the theory expressed by J. F. Wright in the annual report issued by the geological survey, Department of Mines, Ottawa, following the geological mapping of that area in 1927, according to a brief statement issued from the Department of Mines, Ottawa. The statement continues:

"Commenting on the mineral possibilities of the district, Dr. Wright, who paid a further visit to the area during the past summer, said that the geological indications are similar to those wherein commercial mineral deposits have been discovered elsewhere within the Canadian shield. Consequently, it is pointed out, the area is one that should be prospectively considered. Prospecting extensions over a large belt and a great deal of intensive systematic prospecting will be necessary before the mineral possibilities can be evaluated."

Manitoba Not Changing Auto License Tax

Bu. Owners in Saskatchewan Pay Five Dollars More

Licenses for motor cars in Manitoba cost no more for 1928 than in 1927, and the registration fee will continue to be the same, inquiries at the legislative buildings disclosed.

No change is contemplated in the auto license in Saskatchewan either.

Licenses in Manitoba range from $10 to $15, depending on the size of the vehicle. The registration of motor vehicles other than trucks and trailers cost $9 for cars not exceeding 100 inches in the length of the wheelbase, and $2.50 for every additional five inches in the wheelbase.

Moslem League Abandons Plans For Complete Independence Of India

Bombay, India.—Mahatma Gandhi returned today from the recent Indian Round-table Conference at London, England.

New Delhi, India.—"Swaraj" in the Indian sense of complete independence as a goal for the country, was abandoned by the Moslem League Sunday, December 27, and a responsible group with adequate safeguards for Moslems was selected as the ultimate aim.

The decision, reached at a meeting here, is expected to have important repercussions in the politics of India. Ulus Khan, who was a delegate to the London Round-Table Conference, presided at the meeting.

Apart from the decision regarding "Swaraj," the meeting decided to re-mind Moslems of their responsibilities in the Moslem League to represent and negotiate with all parties represented in the Moslem conference with a view to an amalgamation between the conference and the league.

Resolutions were adopted opposing terrorism and the "no rent" campaign.

The chief centre of active unrest Sunday, was Lahore, where four Hindus and four Moslems were so seriously injured in connection with the Moslem League's attempt to negotiate the terms of an armistice.

Eleven persons were reported to have been killed Saturday, December 26, at Peshawar, where troops fired on a crowd of riotous "red shirts." The northeast frontier province was reported to be still in a state of emergency.

The arrest of Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the all-Indian Congress in the Bombay headquarters, Saturday, caused "hartsal" (general strike and closing of shops) to be proclaimed in Bombay Monday as a protest.

To Double Size Of Store

Big London Store To Cost Several Million Pounds

London, Eng.—H. Gordon Sebridge announced as a "gesture of indifference" to prevailing conditions that he would double the size of his London department store.

The project will cost between £75,000,000 and £100,000,000, and the building programme will take ten years to complete. Work will be started immediately, and it is expected to be well along by next fall.

"I do not see a single ray of sunlight in the clouds which cover all business now," Mr. Sebridge said, but added he had been reading a copy of an 1873 edition of the Times almost exactly the same conditions as now were outlined. They passed them and I'm sure they will pass now."

Revenue Collections In Britain Are Down

Returns Fall To Counter Optimistic Statement Of Chancellor Neville Chamberlain

London, Eng.—In spite of Chancellor Neville Chamberlain's reassuring statement that the budget will be balanced, revenue returns last week fell far short of his optimism.

So far, less than half the estimated revenue has been obtained, although nearly three-quarters of the financial year has gone, while total ordinary revenue is more than $225,000,000 less than in the corresponding period last year.

Total ordinary revenue from April 1 to Dec. 12, was approximately $1,820,000,000, as compared with $2,045,000,000 last year. The total estimated revenue for the full year is $3,925,000,000.

Although leading store advertisers have insisted that the British newspapers should abandon grim stories about income tax decreases so as not to impair sales during the Christmas shopping demands for increased amounts have been sent out by the authorities.

In this connection, municipal authorities are fighting with national advertisers over the slogan "Buy from the unfortunate taxpayer" and the phrase "Happy New Year" has taken a sardonic touch.

Meanwhile, the problem facing the government is how to finance a new tax which will be able to meet tax demands and appeals are being made to the public to look upon it as a patriotic duty to make sacrifices so that Britain can balance her budget.

Seek Duty On Flour

Recommendation Made To British Cabinet That Wheat Imports Go Untaxed

London, Eng.—The News Chronicle said it understood the scheme proposed by the British ministry to increase the import duty step by step until quotas called for a duty of $1 a sack on all imported flour, but recommended there be no tax on wheat imports.

The minister said it understood the same would require that all mills be registered and that a levy of 50 cents be made on every sack of flour produced by domestic mills.

There would be no duty on wheat imports, but that the Federal government make representations to the Labor members at Ottawa to have the necessary amendments passed to existing legislation to safeguard the right of Canadians to free speech."

Rigors Of Sub-Arctic Held No Terrors For Ottawa Woman

Edmonton, Alberta—Pioneers of Canada's sub-Arctic held no terror for Mrs. H. S. Madill, of Ottawa, who has just returned to civilization after a summer spent in the Arctic stretches of the Mackenzie and Athabasca Rivers. Since leaving here, early last June, Mrs. Madill and her husband, who was engaged in survey work for the Dominion Observatory at Ottawa, travelled more than a thousand miles by canoe. They are returning to the federal capital by automobile.

Looking very slim but remarkably fit, Mrs. Madill looked none the worse for her outdoor summer and did not seem to think she had accomplished anything out of the ordinary. It was not Mrs. Madill's first trip into barren country, however, for a companion on her expedition at Ottawa travelled more than a thousand miles by canoe. They are returning to the federal capital by automobile.

that time she was the only white woman permitted to go in.

Leaving Waterways June 14, the adventurous pair began their long hard trip down the Mackenzie River.

Twice broken when they were able to make connections with river steamers for short distances. About 600 miles was covered by steamer and 1,200 miles by canoe. They returned here from Akivik, some 50 miles northwest of here, shortly before navigation closed down for the winter.

Hospitality of the North was one of the happy surprises Mrs. Madill had in store. So often, she said, when camped near the various forts, they were accorded such friendly treatment. A great deal of travelling was done at night and during the long summer when there was only a short time of darkness, many hours were spent at the pads.

Hospitality of the North was one of the happy surprises Mrs. Madill had in store. So often, she said, when camped near the various forts, they were accorded such friendly treatment. A great deal of travelling was done at night and during the long summer when there was only a short time of darkness, many hours were spent at the pads.

At that time she was the only white woman permitted to go in.

Development Of Canada's Resources Since War Shows Expansion Not Dreamed Of

Available figures of the decennial census of Canada (1931) leave no room for doubt that the population now exceeds 10,000,000. The census of 1921 showed a total of 8,748,000. From 1901 to 1931 included more than 2,500,000 immigrants entered the country. Great Britain and the United States were the chief sources. Since the World War the tide has turned in favor of Canada, may be said to date from 1867 when the Dominion was formed by the union of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec (Lower Canada) and Ontario (Upper Canada). Two years later the Northern Territories were purchased from the Hudson's Bay Company, and in 1870 Manitoba was organized out of the new lands. It was not until 1871 that British Columbia, and 1873 Prince Edward Island joined the Dominion. The population in 1871 was 5,425,763. The islands and districts within the Arctic Circle came under the jurisdiction of the Dominion. Newfoundland and the Labrador Coast still remain outside. Canada must be thought of as more than 80 per cent British and French in origin. The area of the Dominion is 3,684,723 square miles, 3 per cent greater than that of the United States and Alaska, and only 2 per cent smaller than the area of Europe.

The world war development of Canada's resources has given promise of an expansion not dreamed of at the beginning of the century. Her wheat lands produce ever larger crops, and she is now the world's largest gold producer in the world. Including buildings and machinery, agricultural resources were valued at $7,978,633,000 in 1929. In 1929-30 gold production was $39,840,000, copper produced in 1929 was worth $42,411,032 and nickel $27,115,443. In the Diamond Jubilee year, 1927, Canada produced 90 per cent of the world's nickel, 80 per cent of its copper, 60 per cent of its coal, and 100 per cent of its molybdenum. Molybdenum, a base of radium, has lately been discovered in the Great Bear Lake district in rich veins. The future of the mineral industry in Canada is so full of promise that optimists forecasts no longer appear extravagant.

Her lumber industry and her pulp and paper industry employ many thousands. The value of the fisheries in 1929 was $35,518,221. Canada's exports of commodities and materials to people engaged in the production of commodities and materials in excess of consumption. Henry Laureys, a leading French authority, finds the Canadians backward in the mechanics of foreign trade, but he adds for the growing share of it. Had-Man-Eating Crab

Strange Pet Of Sailors Brought From Bering Sea

When the S.S. San Gabriel, transporing lumber and canned goods from the Pacific Coast, arrived at the Albany airport, sailors displayed a giant man-eating crab which had been caught in the Bering Sea, off Alaska.

The crab measured eight inches long and weighed eight pounds. They are captured in frequent numbers by Japanese, who can them.

The Farmers' Advocate describes agriculture as "a combination of all sciences." Perhaps it is, when the farmer is kicked by a horse, he sees stars and becomes an astronomer. When he is kicked by the wheat market, he sees mortgages and becomes a mathematician.

May Amalgamate Forces

Alberta Police Likely To Join Royal Canadian Mounted

A special despatch to the Edmonton Journal from Ottawa says:

"Negotiations which have been in progress for a long time, looking to an amalgamation of the Alberta Provincial Police with the R.C.M.P., are nearing a conclusion. Though officially no agreement has been reached, it is understood that things are fast shaping up towards one."

"Alberta thus would be placed under Federal supervision as is Saskatchewan. In the province, the Mounties will be called in to 150 stations that the provinces about 150 stations. The plan is to join the two together under the R.C.M.P. There would be little dislocation. Several of each force are at the pensionable age while by stopping recruiting, the absorption of the old men. The figures for British coal imports of all kinds for the three months ended October last, were: August, 101,216 short tons; September, 109,364, and October, 165,076.

"Details development is looked for soon after the New Year. Alberta Government officials refused to comment on the report of police changes.

Money Market For Canada Is Discussed

Dominion Would Then Be Independent Of New York Bankers

Sir Charles Gordon, president of the Bank of Montreal, and other leading bankers met the Prime Minister in his office to discuss the establishment of a Canadian money market which would relieve the dependence of the Canadian dollar in the New York market.

It was stated that the establishment of an exchange market in Montreal would enable the Dominion to declare its monetary independence of New York bankers, who are now the controlling factors in setting the price of the Canadian dollar.

Canadian drafts and cables on London were handled directly from Canada and not through New York, the Canadian dollar would be selling in New York today at 90 cents, instead of 81 cents.

Muskrats Becoming Menace In Europe

Have Invaded Britain and Cause Great Damage To Crops

Muskats imported from America into Europe are becoming a menace to agriculture. Several countries say they are powerless to stop the animals' depredations.

Five which were released near Prague, Czechoslovakia, 23 years ago, have resulted in a population of 100,000,000 spread over central Europe.

The army of rodents is invading Britain and is causing great damage to crops. In Scotland muskats have become so numerous that officials say the situation is critical.

They have burrowed into the banks of the Allan River and the safety of the great railway look at Castle Breck is threatened.

The sensitive fingers of Helen Keller, famous blind educator, touched lightly recently the glass windows of an art gallery in New York. No Objection To British Coal Imports

Any Increase Would Not Be Opposed By Mines Department

There should be no objection to increased imports of British anthracite coal into Canada, officials of the Mines Department here, said in commenting on the London Conference in which it was forecast that this subject would be on the agenda of the forthcoming Imperial Conference. The problem in the past, it was stated, was the difficulty in profitably bringing British coal to Canada because of the high cost of shipping and the high cost of carrying vessels.

It was also suggested that there would be more storage space required on this side if the imports were to be increased.

Imports of British coal have been slowly increasing during the last few months. The figures for British coal imports of all kinds for the three months ended October last, were:

August, 101,216 short tons; September, 109,364, and October, 165,076.

The imports of all kinds for the 12 months ended October last were 13,693,379 tons of which 1,032,833 tons were from the United States and the balance from the United States.

"Definite development is looked for soon after the New Year. Alberta Government officials refused to comment on the report of police changes.

Carnegie Fellowships Will Be Awarded

Ten Canadian Students To Be Selected Next Year

The Royal Society of Canada has completed arrangements under which Canadian students will be selected in 1932 for the first award of $1,000 annually for five years to be given by the Carnegie corporation. The society has been granted $15,000 yearly for five years for this purpose.

The grants are flexible and the students may apply for any amount up to $1,000.

The conditions are that degree or its equivalent, and preferably have completed one or more year's work beyond that degree.

The grants are tenable at institutions of learning or research and are available for advanced research in literature, history, archaeology, sociology, political economy and allied subjects in French or English.

Students may apply for geography, physics, geology, or subjects associated with these sciences.

Kaiser Was Outwitted

Lost Prize Pig As Well As Purchase Price

How former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany lost a prize British pig in 1914 is told in the latest issue of the 1914 the Kaiser wanted a prize British pig for his Potsdam pigeons.

The pig was purchased at Somerset and started for Germany, but the Great War intervened and the pig was interned as a prisoner.

For three years, with a blue ribbon around its neck and a collection box on its back, the Kaiser's prize pig collected money for the British Red Cross. One night, a zeppelin dropped bombs on Berlin and the poor pig was killed.

He wanted his pig or his money back. His agent filed a claim with the enemy debt tribunal at London. The tribunal said "OK," but the Somerton farmers who sold the pig sent a bill for maintaining the prize pig for three years.

From Churchill to Liverpool via the Hudson Bay route, the distance is 2,368 miles.

To the surprise of the Kaiser, the pig was still alive when he got home.

In Abnormal Times

Price Of Hogs Twenty Dollars More During War Years

Hogs have been selling at $4.20 per hundred for the past five years.

During the spring of the last ten years of the war, however, between the years 1916 and 1918, it is twenty dollars less than it was during third year of the Great War.

Ten good hogs in those days would bring a farmer a handsome sum.

Now he receives just $90 for the same number of hogs. Now he can buy a suit of clothes for $25 that would have cost him $50 during the war years. But he is not the only one who has suffered.

He who does not want to see again and three times are abnormally bad, and may never return after the economic organization of the Empire.

Taxes On the Farms

Have Increased Steadily While Land Values Are Lower

A gathering of fifteen hundred farmers at Peterboro, Ontario, voted a protest against the taxes which agriculturists believe are forced to pay and passed resolutions asking the Ontario Government to extend relief by paying the entire cost of provincial and county roads and by reducing all Government taxes to 10 per cent.

Taxation has grown steadily in the last quarter of a century. Its pressure is being felt today by all classes. Farmers, especially, find the tax on income for taxes has been increasing rapidly for years and the value of farms has remained stationary or decreased.

There are many farm properties that are worth less today in the open market than they were twelve years ago. In fact, it would be remarkable if the opportunity to be assured of a reasonable rate of return in the downward direction.

The governments could help revolution by relief measures in farm levies. There are farms that produce little more than is adequate to pay the taxes. If the tax is reduced, the farmer will be better able to meet his expenses.

There is no basis for optimism on the part of farmers who are much bewildered by the mounting costs of things they have to buy and the decreasing value of their products.

People should know history of each province, particularly their own.

Now that there is every prospect of the union of the practical and sentimental forces of the British Empire—the complete unity of sentiment and substance—the Federal Government should issue a volume containing an account of this great Empire. This small volume should contain a short account of each separate part of the Empire, a paragraph or a page, giving an idea of its size and shape. Such a book would be useful to business men, ship owners, teachers, politicians and voters. We know the British Empire as the Jumbo of Nations, but how many men in Canada could name all its parts?

What is believed to be the most unusual development yet made in the field of armored cars is represented by this amphibious fortress, equally at home on land or in the water. Creating Real Vacation Trip

Army Of Young Workers Transforms Riding Mountain Park.
Young men employed at Riding Mountain National Park, in Manitoba on the Dominion relief scheme are working a great transformation in turning the park into a real vacation land that will draw tourists from far and wide. George W. Northwood, supervisor of Dominion relief, said, following his return from an inspection visit to the workers' camp in the park.

The difference is evident when one compares the forest area that has been cleared of entangling brush and fallen timbers with the uncleared stretches. This work is especially beneficial along the shore of the rippling blue lakes which are found in different parts of the park.

Mr. Northwood found the youths to be well fed and comfortably installed in their bunk houses. A large part of the food supplies is obtained from farms in the surrounding areas, and so the work underway is giving agricultural relief as well as unemployment for men from urban centres.

In addition to the bunk houses are recreation buildings, a hospital and root houses. The last number of money boxes donated by the courtesy of Winnipeg citizens through the Free Press, are found in the recreation halls and are much appreciated by the workers.

A resident physician at the park looks after the needs of the men, and Mr. Northwood is arranging for a number of first aid men to go to the camp, so that each camp will have a first aid man prepared for any emergency.

The last contingent of men, 125 in number, have gone to the park. This will bring the number there close to over 1,300. The 1,260 men 913 are from Winnipeg, and the remainder from various parts of the country.

Camps for the workers have been constructed from timber cut in the park and cut up in saw mills there. As an example of the swift work done in the park, Mr. Northwood told of an instance where a tree was cut down one morning, sawed up and the boards from the tree were part of a new house before the day was over.

Cutting Down National Debt

Lady Sackville Has Novel Scheme To Reduce Deficit

The Dowager Lady Sackville, mother of Sir John Charles Sackville, West, founder of her school, has devised a novel method for reducing down the national debt. She is asking notable people to send her a penny for each year of their lives, on their arrival at another birthday.

Lord Justice, former attorney general, judge, who was $23,000 of age the other day, has sent seven shillings—$1.75—which Lady Sackville admits were two pennies too many.

Her capture recently was Alderman W. W. Kelly, prominent citizen of Birkenhead. Mr. Kelly, celebrating his 75th birthday anniversary, promptly remitted six shillings and four pence.

B.C. Egg Exports Bring Producers $5,000 Each Day

Eastern Market Demands Huge Supplies From Ranchers On Coast

British Columbia hens are bringing in a good market among exporters, as a result of growing volume of shipments of eggs outside the province in the neighborhood of $5,000 a day.

The B.C. Egg Pool is shipping to the prairies and eastern Canada three and four carloads of eggs weekly. Private firms are adding further shipments, which, according to G. R. White, of the poultry division, Dominion Building, bring the total up to one carload daily.

Egg carloads at Montreal brings an average of $7,000. There must be deducted from this freight charges of approximately $850 and handling charges of five cents a dozen.

The grain company is the liveliest department of agriculture in British Columbia. Distribution of $5,000 a day among poultry ranchers is bound to stimulate confidence in the industry.

Egg prices are much lower this year than at the same time in 1930. Production is also lower this year than last. Nevertheless, present prices are attractive to the coast market. Lower feed prices and lower labor costs help to make up for the reduced prices received for the product.

The apparatus utilized is simple, they said. It was little more than a rotating tank and a tub of water.

May Benefit Farmers

New Seed Cleaning Scheme Discovers More Toronto Men

A new system of cleaning seeds which may have great value to farmers, has been discovered by Prof. F. C. Dyer and H. L. McClelland in the new mining laboratories at University of Toronto.

For the first time making use of a physical characteristic of seeds, apparently overlooked previously, the two men have been able to reduce weed seeds in alfalfa, sweet clover, red clover and vetch to a tenth of their natural amount.

Under the new process, Prof. Dyer and Mr. McClelland have been able to take aside containing 800 bushel of seeds to the river and clean it until there remained only four of the most common weeds.

The two men have been able to extract shadow clover, and vetch from the above types of fodder.

Observations in connection with the experiment revealed the wetability of clover was not so great as that of the weed seeds.

It is suggested that the use of the river in the future will be of great benefit to the farmer. The two men have been able to reduce the weed seeds in alfalfa, sweet clover, red clover and vetch to a tenth of their natural amount.

There should be and many of these manifestations of joy have been attained, on the principle of a person whistling to keep his courage up. Gayety, too, whether forced or spontaneous, is good. Too many people have fallen into the habit of wearing solemn faces and speaking in serious, if not sepulchral, tones.

The world stands desperately in need of a smile. In fact, a smile could be spanned the globe a lot of depression would vanish and that for good. Optimism would stand away pessimism. It is hard to create optimism when people have been viewing conditions through darkened glasses. Smiles and the world takes on a rosy appearance. Difficulties viewed through smiling eyes are not nearly so formidable and forbidding as when seen through those that are dimmed.

Fortunately, there is nothing more contagious than a smile. There is something wrong with a man or woman who cannot respond to a smile. It is a sign of something wrong, because of aching hearts, not a smile for smiling. But there are many others who should be smiling who go about eclipsed in gloom. It's like meeting a miniature iceberg to have to pass them from time to time.

Let all do more smiling. It may cost some a considerable effort to do this, but it will be well worth the effort. Weary, dreary passersby will be cheered and enheartened.—St. Thomas Journal.

Is More Smiling People and Fewer Gloomy Spreaders

We have heard many kinds of "weekend" "spirit prevalence," "color Up," "Buy at Home" and what not. But it remains for Geneva to provide something new in this line. It is known as "Good Humor Week."

It was initiated by the newspaper La Presse and seems to be catching on in the streets. Nor is it any easier for the people of Geneva to smile than in other cities. The citizens there have, according to a doctor, been having a tough break.

We are told that the doctor who has been here for a month now has been lost, banks have smashed, money has depreciated, trade is bad, and Americans are not arriving at the mountain resort. But nevertheless the doctor is smiling.

We should like to see this "Good Humor Week" observed all over the world. Dear friends, it is needed. For too long the world has been wearing a long face.

Miners Want Freight By Sea

Would Use Air Transport From Between Coppermine and Great Bear

Desire of mining interests which expect to profit by preliminary development of great copper, silver and pitchblende prospects in Great Bear Lake and Coppermine River area for a freight service by sea from Vancouver to Coronation Gulf have been heard as far south as San France. It is rumoured that San Francisco shipping interests are seriously considering undertaking shipments of mining supplies, particularly gasoline, with early flying distances of the largest operations on Great Bear Lake.

Adding his voice to those of other mining men who have investigated the recent developments on Great Bear, Mr. E. C. Dyer, "John Bull," who has all summer and many years previous to that, suggests that Canadian interests should step in while the stepping is good. There is no reason, he says, why we should not profit by this business. Coal and oil still has transported freight on the Mackenzie for years and knows conditions.

"It costs four cents a pound to move coal from Waterways to end of Great Bear in the winter months, and even with gasoline set up there for $3.50 a gallon and they depend on seaplanes for a great deal of their transport. The mouth of the Coppermine offers ideal terminal facilities for ships and there is no difficulty in delivering gasoline and other supplies on the Arctic Coast at that point."

"From the mouth of the Coppermine to Great Bear there is about 150 miles of dry portage, which is compared with the distances over which northern fifers have been carrying heavy mining equipment during the past two or three years. In addition, the country offers no difficulties for construction of a tractor road from the sea to the scene of present development."

Soviet Plans a Huge Stadium For Moscow

World's Largest Sports Arena To Be Built in Russia

World's largest sports unit—a gigantic stadium, various accessory structures and sport grounds—will be constructed in the Soviet capital, Moscow, by 1950, the program of the central executive committee of the Soviet Union has decided.

It must be completed, the government has ordered, by 1953, so that it may be opened with a great international sports festival in celebration of the 30th anniversary of the October revolution.

The sports gathering will be called Spartakiad to distinguish it from the Spartakiad of the Russian Revolution in 1919.

The sports gathering will be opened only to athletes of proletarian organizations from all countries. A similar though less ambitious Spartakiad will be held in Moscow in the summer of 1952.

The Soviet ideal is mass participation in athletics and all-round athletic development instead of specialized achievements. Not only is the physical advantage of this ideal stressed, but its political importance as well.

The New Junkers' 'Plane

Has Opened Up New Phase Of Transportation In Canada

Extremely valuable mineral finds have been reported in different parts of the north and northwest of the nation. That at Bear Lake up on the Arctic circle is perhaps the most notable, but there are others at Iguna Lake, east of the north end of Lake Winnipeg, and elsewhere. The value of these minerals no matter how rich, is impossible without adequate transportation facilities. The prospectors and mining men can fly to those remote places with the plane now in use, and there can carry a load of freight. But development on any considerable scale requires something better.

It is to supply this need that Canadian Airways Limited has secured the services of a plane for carrying freight, not passengers. The interior resembles the inside of a freight car. Its carrying capacity and its speed when loaded with 100 miles an hour should be a great stimulus to the development of mining and other industries at remote points. It is understood that the company will secure other freight planes of the same type.

This is a new and interesting phase of transportation in Canada, and it may lead to highly important developments.—Manitoba Free Press.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

Nick at once established himself at Jean's side kindly informing her that now that his inner man was satisfied he was prepared to make himself agreeable. Upon which Lady Anne apologized for her hasty pointing out that the fault, if any (which she denied) lay entirely with him, since she had been responsible both for his upbringing and inherited tendencies. They both sat at once, whispering together, without a word of remonstrance, and it was easily apparent that the two were very close friends indeed.

Nick took no part in the stream of chatter and nonsense which ensued, but stood a little apart, his shoulder propped against the chimney-piece, drinking his coffee in silence.

Jean's glances wandered reflectively from one brother to the other. They presented a striking contrast—the dark, dark-brown face of the elder man, with its bitter-looking mouth and that strange white streak lying like a soberly finger-mark across his dark hair, and the hubbubbing, blithe, gay countenance of the younger. The difference between them was as definite as the difference between sunlight and shadow.

Nick was full of plans for Jean's entertainment, suggestions for boating and tennis occupying a prominent position in the programme he sketched out.

"It's really quite jolly paddling about the lake," he remarked. "The stream is broad; it is wide enough for Dartmoor, of course. All Devonshire streams do, I believe—at least, you'll never hear of one that doesn't, the Moor being our proudest possession. Besides, people always think that your father is a jolly sort of a man, and a woman likes to have a little party if you just casually mention that its source is a Dartmoor spring."

"So, of course, we all swear to the Dartmoor origin of our domestic water supply. It's well—ever so well, though, I might say."

"Miss Peterson must find it a trifle difficult to follow your train of thought," commented Blaise a little sharply. "A moment ago you were discussing boating, and now it sounds as though you'll shortly involve yourself—and us—in a disposition upon hygiene."

Nick smiled placidly.

"My enthusiasm goes away with me," he said, "but I remain perfectly calm."

"But I haven't the least doubt that Miss Peterson will like to know these few reassuring particulars. However—"

"Mr. Tormain," said Nick, "you are right, but I am afraid that none would have guessed the flush of shyness which underlay her cool, little voice—"I am very sorry you will have to put up with me for a week or two, but I promise you that I will make other arrangements as soon as I can."

He turned towards her sharply.

"May I ask what you mean?" he demanded.

"It was evident from the haughty, almost arrogant tone of his voice that something had aroused him, and he chose to take her speech as censuring his attitude, Jean was unable to determine. His eyes were wide and unwieldy as though in a belated endeavour to explain away the suggestion of impropriety which might easily be inferred from his previous sentence.

But if the hasty addition were intended to make her aware of the scope of its purpose, the idea that her coming to Staple was not particularly acceptable to its master had already taken possession of her. Originally the consequence of the conversation she had overheard at the hotel, Tor-mains reluctantly gave welcome when he met her at Coombe Edge Station had served to increase her feeling of embarrassment. And now, this last speech, though so harshly qualified, convinced her that her advent was regarded by his host in anything but the most friendly light.

"Yes, I don't think you must count on me for the tennis season, Mr. Brennan," she said quickly. "I don't propose to billet myself on you indefinitely, I'm afraid."

Lady Anne interposed with a simple sincerity; there was no doubt, "You must certainly stay with us till your father has recovered from his illness—unless Miss Gilt has altered considerably." I'm sure Brian will not see him again under a year."

"But I couldn't possibly foist myself to you for a year!" exclaimed Jean. "That would be a sheer imposition."

Lady Anne smiled across at her.

"My dears," she said, "I've never had a daughter—only these two great, unmanageable sons—and I'm just longing to play at having one. You're not going to disappoint me, I hope."

There was something irresistibly winning in Lady Anne's way of putting the matter, and Jean jumped up and kissed her impulsively.

"She should hate it!" she answered warmly.

But she evaded giving a direct promise; there must be a clearer understanding between herself and Tormain before she could accept Lady Anne's offer. She spoke frankly and firmly as it was offered.

The opportunity for this clearer understanding came with the entry of Blaise, the butler, who brought the news that a favourite young son of Nick had been taken ill and that the stablemen feared the dog had distemper.

Nick sprang up, his concern showing in his face.

"I'll come out and have a look at him," she said quickly.

"I'll come with you," added Lady Anne.

She slipped her hand through his arm, and they hurried off to the stable, leaving Blaise and Jean alone together.

For a moment neither spoke. Blaise, smoking a cigarette, remained staring sombrely into the fire. Apparently he did not regard it as incumbent upon him to interfere in any way with the door against any possibility of friendship between the two. From whichever way she looked at it, she could find no key to the mystery of his behaviour. It was inexplicable.

"Come along, Blaise," she said, "the confusion of instant; the hot glances of that night at Montauk had returned—with fresh impressiveness and persuasiveness. And when at last he fell asleep, it was with the beseaching, soul-stirring melody of 'Value Trade' crying in her ears.

When it came always seemed to transform his face, obliterating the harsh sternness of its lines.

"Perhaps I don't understand," either," he said gently.

"Then—you wish I hadn't come?" "Then—slowly. "I think I do wish that."

She looked at him a little wistfully. "That is why you were angry—because I've come here?" Lady Anne asked.

"Mr. Brennan seemed quite pleased," she added as though in protest.

"No doubt. Nick, lucky devil, has no need to economize in magic moments."

She felt her cheeks flush under the look he bent upon her, but she forced herself to meet it.

"And—any you?" she questioned very low.

"I love—" briefly.

It was long before sleep visited Jean that night. The events of the day marched precessionally through her mind, and her thoughts persisted in circling round the baffling, incomprehensible personality of Blaise Tormain.

His extreme bitterness of speech seemed to be the unfortunate episode that lay in his past. But she could find no reason for strength, nor could she discern any reason for meeting at Montauk—to wipe out, as it were, all recollection of it.

But she did not dislike her old father, and a woman rarely makes a mistake over a man's personal attitude towards her. But for some reason, it seemed to her that he was afraid to let himself like her! It was as though he were bent on bolted doors against any possibility of friendship between the two. From whichever way she looked at it, she could find no key to the mystery of his behaviour. It was inexplicable.

"Come along, Blaise," she said, "the confusion of instant; the hot glances of that night at Montauk had returned—with fresh impressiveness and persuasiveness. And when at last he fell asleep, it was with the beseaching, soul-stirring melody of 'Value Trade' crying in her ears.

Prince Stresses the Value Of Advertising

URGE NATION TO KEEP GREAT BRITAIN BEFORE THE WORLD

The Prince of Wales urged the nation to tell the world that Great Britain "is still alive" and able to take advantage of the most modern method of advertising.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Travel Association, the British Empire's best salesman when he quoted a modernized version of an old rhyme:

"EAT to bed and early rise;
YOU'LL SURELY BUST IF YOU DON'T ADVERTISE."

"Too little is known abroad of what Britain and Ireland have to offer," the Prince said, "while there is too much talk of the difficulties of national differences which we, in common with other countries, are suffering."

The Prince told the meeting, at which Lord Derby presided and which was attended by many prominent persons, including 50 members of the Royal Household, that the stopping of British pleasure touring abroad was merely an emergency measure, due to the financial situation.

WINTER HAD HIS JOKE

"Give me an aspiculated steak, weak. Smothered in mushrooms, you know?"

"Yew! An' shall I bring you a miniature cocktail with it?"

"What's that?"

"You drink it and in a miniature out, boss."

The question of where the habitus come from is still unanswered despite several years investigation of the North Pacific Coast.

Almost every part of the whale has a commercial value.

"You have not brushed my coat, Joseph."

"How do you know?"

"I left a cigar in the pocket and it is still there!" Pele Mele, Paris.

Millionaires Are Fewer

Reduced By Half In U.S. After Stock Crash Of 1929

That there are 23,406 fewer millionaires in the United States now than there were before the stock market crash is one of the startling revelations in the latest effects of the business depression made by the Internal Revenue Bureau's statistics of income for 1930 issued last week.

If a millionaire is defined as a person with net less than a million dollars' worth of property, the incomes from which is $50,000 or more, there were 43,184 millionaires in the hey-day of the boom times in 1928. The stock market crash in October, 1929, having wiped $650 million in incomes of $50,000 or more for that calendar year. In 1930, however, the number of millionaires had fallen to 10,688.

The figures showing less than half as many millionaires with about one-third of their former income will have an important bearing upon tax legislation in the approaching session of Congress to meet the two billion dollar treasury deficit looming for this fiscal year.

LIVE OAK

All the trees in the forest
Blew to the winter's will.

Flinging their bright-hued leaves
aside,
Shuddering, bare and chill.

All the trees in the forest
Scatter their leaves of gold,
Scatter their leaves of red and bronze.
Naked they stand, and cold.

All the trees in the forest
Save the live oak.

Live oak still clings to his robe of green.
Careless that summer has flown.

I would be, like the oak tree,
Dauntless in winter's blast,
Clothed with the joy of sunbright hours
And the memories of the past.

COMPANION WAS HARMLESS

INDIAN TRAPPER DISCOVERED IN SLEPT IN CABIN WITH BEAR

Cousin of John was recently in Peter John, an Indian from the Rama band, was walking through the woods near Orrilla, Ont. Here and there he inspected his traps. As he was getting dusk and the reserve was a good place to sleep, he decided to spend the night in an old cabin. In the cabin were two beds, a little bed and a big bed.

Peter John climbed into the big bed and went to sleep. In the middle of the night he awoke to find a skunk and a weasel and a couple of yawns. So he looked into the little bed and there he saw what he thought was a man in a fur coat. Peter John got up, reached out and shook the fur coat. And the fur coat uncrossed itself, uttered a loud "woof" and a couple of grunts and went away very quickly.

"I know it was a bear," Peter John said. "It was the first time as far as he knew, he ever slept quite so close to a bear."

Girls Are Advised

To Marry Farmers

MORE CHANCES OF HAVING HAPPY HOME AND FEWER FOR BUSINESS

Gigs offer the best chance for domestic happiness were advised to marry farmers by Mrs. Ellsworth Richardson of Albia, Iowa, the only woman to receive the gold medal at the annual fair held yesterday.

The girl who marries a farmer has a much greater opportunity for a happy home and a fuller home life than the girl who goes down the aisle aisle side with a city dweller," she said.

The farm, she said, brings a man and his wife into closer community of interests than is generally possible in city life.

Many mothers have reason to bless Mother Graves Worm Exterminator, because it has relieved the little ones of suffering and made them healthy.

Mrs. Wm. McKay, a teacher, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Russell and family, who had been visiting relatives at Burstall, arrived back home the first of the week.

Not a little amusement was occasioned by the adventures of the boys' young dance party that went to Mayfield by truck. The party was halted about seven miles from their destination by breakdown. They arrived home at 9 a.m. We understand "Walking My Baby Back Home," was the theme song on this trip.

Two visiting ranks from London, were in town on Monday and returned home with the Hobartian Cup. They played against town ranks, skippered by J. Guy and A. Hunter. The former game was drawn 10-10 and the latter game lost, 17-2. In the evening, two football games were played against the visitors, J. Rauch winning with an unassisted score and D. McEachern losing by a one-sided score. However, there is very little, if any, regret at the loss of the trophy, as it has been successfully defended over the past four or more years, and that some other club should have the honor of defending it has been more or less freely expressed.
